The promotion table offers a great place to demonstrate your products and hand out samples at busy events. These trade show tables make perfect lead-taking stands, reception counters, product displays, and demo stations. The promotion tables are also great for laptop computer demonstrations. The promotion table is made from high-quality materials for a stable and durable display. The frame is constructed of high-grade aluminum, while the countertop is made from MFD wood. The wrap-around graphic attaches to the aluminum frame with magnetic strips. Internal shelves are included to provide storage space. This portable counter is a great size for trade show booths and store environments.
